National Council Of Churches Elects Pinkish President

ST. LOUIS—Two thousand delegates of the so-called National Council of Churches, successor of the discredited "Federal Council of Churches," last month met in St. Louis to, among other things, elect a new president to succeed outgoing Eugene Carson Blake of the Presbyterian church. Elected to the post was Edwin T. Dahlberg of St. Louis, a social gospel

Shown with Martin Luther King, Montgomery bus boycott leader, is Edwin T. Dahlberg, newly elected president of the National Council of Churches. Dahlberg has a long record of pro-Communist affiliations.

Jews Quash U.S. Religious Census

WASHINGTON, D.C.—As predicted by the AMERICAN NATIONALIST, organized Jewry has succeeded in forcing the Census Bureau to drop its proposed religious survey from the 1960 census. Realizing that such a survey would reveal the true Jewish population of this country, Jewish groups mobilized every resource at their disposal to quash the query. Even so, some Jewish groups are complaining because the Census Bureau earlier this year conducted a spot survey to determine the religious composition of the country. One Jewish newspaper, the NATIONAL JEWISH POST, described the spot survey as a "Machiavellian maneuver." "It was assumed by the Anglo-Jewish press," whined the JEWISH POST, "that anent the question on religion in the 1960 census, victory was ours" . . .

White House Advisor Rabi

The gentleman above, holding a press conference on the White House lawn, is Isadore Rabi, recently appointed chairman of the "President's Science Advisory Committee." Mr. Rabi will hereafter "co-ordinate" the U.S. missile program from the White House itself, where he now has an office. Previously Rabi had directed U.S. missile policy from the Office of Defense Mobilization, and there is reason to believe he is responsible for deliberately preventing the U.S. Army from launching its satellite before the Russians.

U.S. Missile Program Sabotaged By Ike's Jewish Advisors

WASHINGTON, D.C.—Three months ago, to allay public concern over this nation's lagging missile program—a lag brought into sharp focus by the launching of Soviet Russia's half-ton, dog carrying earth satellite—the White House announced the appointment of a "missile czar" whose task it would be to step up U.S. rocket production. Named to the post was Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., whose position as president of M.I.T. was obviously calculated to inspire public confidence in our scientific leadership.

The ink had hardly dried on the headlines, however, before it became apparent that Killian was a "czar" without any real authority. One U.S. Senator (Flanders), following a committee investigation into the matter, flatly stated that Killian was "boxed in" and lacked the power to carry out the job. On the face of it, therefore, Dr. Killian's much touted appointment as head of U.S. missile development was little more than window dressing; a gimmick designed in the first place to quiet public apprehension over our failure to keep abreast of the Russians in rocket technology and, secondly, to obscure the identity of those who really are in control of our missile program, and who are actually responsible for its near sabotage.

Proof that Dr. Killian's appointment was an empty propaganda gesture was forthcoming from the White House itself only a few days after he took over the job. It came in the form of an announcement that a special 17-man scientific committee, under the chairmanship of the Jew, Isadore Rabi, was setting up offices in the White House itself, and that it would hereafter oversee the nation's missile program from there. "This action was taken," said the White House statement, "in order that there would be a more direct relationship between the committee, the President and Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., his newly appointed special assistant for science and

Church Publishes Propaganda For Communist Author

SPECIAL—Not very many Presbyterians realize it when they drop their offering into the collection plate on a Sunday morning, but at least a part of their tithes and contributions are being used to pay for the publication and distribution of pro-Communist literature. That's a pretty strong statement to make, but for proof we need go no further than the Dec. 28th ('57) issue of PRESBYTERIAN LIFE, official organ of the Presbyterian Church (USA).

That particular issue lets the cat out of the bag with the revelation that the official Presbyterian publishing house, Westminster Press, has just published a book written by one of the most notorious Communist propagandists in the world today. Title of the book is "Theology Between Yesterday and Tomorrow," and its author is Joseph Hromadka, a turncoat Czechoslovakian theologian whose presence at the World Council of Churches in Evanston, Ill., in 1954 was bitterly assailed on the grounds that he was there as an agent of Communism rather than as a representative of a Christian denomination.

This is the picture of Communist propagandist, Hromadka, which PRESBYTERIAN LIFE featured with its book review. Despite Hromadka's unsavory background, PRESBYTERIAN LIFE describes him as a "sensitive Christian" . . .

Notwithstanding Hromadka's unsavory reputation as a Communist agent, however, the official publishing house of the Presbyte-

Jews Seize Control Of U.S. Defenses

Key Installations Now Run By Alien Jews

SPECIAL—"Fourteen of the 26 Soviet scientists who created the Sputnik were Jews, Dr. S. Eisenstadt told a meeting of the Israel-U.S.S.R. Friendship League in Tel Aviv." So began a news item in the Dec. 13th issue of the west coast's largest Jewish newspaper, the B'NAI B'RITH MESSENGER.

If would be well if every American considered the significance of that revealing statement, for contained in it is the key of our national survival—or destruction. As the AMERICAN NATIONALIST has frequently emphasized, the fact that Jews dominate Soviet science, as well as many areas of American science, is fraught with peril for the U.S. For one thing, it means that it is virtually impossible for us to guard our vital military and scientific secrets. This was made abundantly clear several years ago when teams of Jewish spies. (Rosenberg et al) funnelled our atom and hydrogen bomb secrets to Russia almost as soon as they were discovered.

But the fact that virtually all the spies convicted in this country since the war have been Jews is not the only reason for concern; even more serious is the fact that Jews have managed to entrench themselves in key positions in our defense establishment.

To appreciate just how completely America's defense agencies have fallen under Jewish domination, it is necessary to remember that since World War II the technology of warfare has been completely revolutionized. The concept of warfare based upon an army and a navy, shielded by an air umbrella of fighter and bomber planes, is as obsolete as the Gatlin gun.

Today there are four phases of military strategy, either in being or in the making, which will determine the outcome of any future conflict. The first of these, of course, is the hydrogen bomb and our progress, or lack of it, in the field of thermo-nuclear weapons development might easily decide the course of a war before it is ever fought.

To deliver the hydrogen bomb on target we are dependent upon three delivery systems, one of which is becoming obsolete and two of which are still in the development stage. At the present moment the Strategic Air Command (SAC) is the prime instrument upon which we would depend to deliver hydrogen war heads to enemy territory in case of war. Until guided missiles take over, the SAC is our only effective weapons delivery system.

In the development stage are two other forces which will eventually pre-empt the function of delivering hydrogen war heads to a possible enemy. The most publicized of these is the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile (ICBM), which is expected to be perfected within the next ten years and which, upon perfection, will largely supplant the manned bombers of the SAC.

Less publicized perhaps, but of equal importance in future warfare, will be the atomic powered submarine, capable of cruising underwater for vast distances, and possessing the ability to launch hydrogen bombs upon our coastal and inland cities from several hundred miles offshore. Without question the atomic submarine will replace the navies of today just as the ICBM will make obsolete the present air forces of the wrold.

In sum, then, our future existence as a nation is dependent upon our ability to keep abreast, if not ahead, of the Russians in the development of thermonuclear weapons, and in the production of the ICBM and the atomic submarine. To fall behind in any one of these fields can be fatal. And in the interim we must look to the Strategic Air Force to protect us from a Soviet assault . . .

It does not require a military genius to see that if the wrong people should gain control of our atomic laboratories, of our guided missile research, of our atomic submarine program, or of the Strategic Air Command, our very existence would be jeopardized by subtle sabotage and high level treason. And it is here that we come to the truly shocking part of the whole picture, because the truth is that alien Jews are in control of every one of the vital areas of our defense establishment described above.

In command of our atomic submarine program is the Russian-born Jew, Hyman Rickover.

At the head of our vital atomic laboratories is the Jew, L. L. Strauss, of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., who serves as chairman of the Atomic Energy Commission, and is in reality the czar of our nuclear weapons development program.

Wielding a sinister control over our guided missile research program is the Jew, Isadore Rabi, who has an office in the White House itself, and whose position as chairman of the "President's Science Advisory Group" makes him in effect the overseer of our missile research program.

And finally, there is the half-Jew, Curtis LeMay, whose very name is synonomous with the Strategic Air Command, and who is its only real commander.

This, then, is the weird and sinister crew which has maneuvered itself into control of our key defense agencies. It's not a pretty picture—especially when you know that 14 of the 26 scientists who created the Sputnik are Jews, and when you know, too, the shameful record of treason which the Oppenheimers, the Lilienthals, the Einsteins and other high ranking Jewish scientists have already made over the past years . . .

Although they have singularly failed to distinguish themselves in combat, alien Jews have managed to work their way into virtual control of our key defense establishments. Between them, for instance, the four Jews above (LeMay is reputedly half-Jew) control 1) the Atomic Energy Commission, 2) the atomic submarine program, 3) the Strategic Air Command (SAC), 4) the guided missile program. Incidentally, Isidore Rabi is believed to be responsible for sabotaging our satellite program, thus allowing Russia to beat us into outer space with its "Sputnik." Rabi recently signed a petition demanding that the Jewish security risk, Robt. Oppenheimer, be rehired by the Atomic Energy Commission. . . . He was also a close friend of the spy, Klaus Fuchs.

Editor's Report

Senator Wm. Knowland, who nauseated conservatives everywhere with his rabid support of the administration's so-called "civil rights" program during the last session of Congress, continues to run with the N.A.A.C.P. crowd. Lately, for example, he has come out strongly for Hawaiian statehood — a measure which would give us a 49th Oriental state, since 85% of the Island's population is Asiatic. Whether or not this turn-coat strategy wins him an appreciable Negro following in the forthcoming California gubernatorial race remains to be seen. But he has almost certainly alienated large numbers of California conservatives, even though some right wingers (including those who defected to Eisenhower in 1952-56) may still go along with him . . .

DAHLBERG

activist with a long and odious record of pro-Communist activity.

The Reverend Dahlberg is in every sense a fitting successor to the Negro-catering, internationalist-minded Eugene Carson Blake. Back in 1942 he was tied in with the "Citizens Committee to Free Earl Browder"—a Communist front. Later, in 1943, he signed an open letter (with other known Communist fronters) to President Roosevelt protesting the deportation of the Communist labor leader, Harry Bridges. In 1951 the Daily Worker cited him as a signer of a petition calling for the repeal of the McCarran Act. And in 1957 he signed another petition demanding the release of the convicted Jewish atom spy, Morton Sobell, from Alcatraz, where he is currently serving a 30 year term for espionage. The Reverend Dahlberg has a long string of other pro-Communist affiliations, but from the above record alone it is evident that he is eminently qualified to serve as president of the National Council of Churches for the next three years . . .

SIDELIGHT: In addition to electing a new president, National Council delegates also: 1) heard an address by the Negro bus boycott leader, Martin Luther King, 2) adopted a resolution advocating more racial integration in member churches, 3) urged a revision of the "discriminatory" McCarran Immigration Act to admit more aliens into the country, 4) called upon President Eisenhower to grant a new loan to India.

Rocket Program Sabotaged By Jews

technology" . . . Meaning, of course, that Dr. Killian, the so-called "czar" of our missile program, will be under the supervision of the same committee which, through the Office of Defense Mobilization, has been queering the show all along. And that committee is headed by an Austrian Jew who was once the room-mate of the notorious atom spy, Klaus Fuchs, at Los Alamos . . .

To understand just what all this means, and to get it into proper perspective, it is necessary to go into the background of the situation a little further. The bare fact that a Jew who was once a room-mate of a Communist spy is directing our missile program does not in itself tell us too much. It is only when the picture in its entirety is unfolded that we begin to get an idea of the monstrous treason involved.

ROCKET TREASON

The first thing to remember is that Soviet Russia's smashing propaganda victory in getting its "sputnik" satellites into outer space ahead of us was accomplished not as a result of Russia's technological superiority; but because of treason in Washington. In other words, the Russians beat us to the punch because someone in Washington planned it that way. And the finger points directly to Dr. Isadore Rabi, who up until Nov. 29th of 1957 headed a special 12-man "Science Advisory Committee" in the Office of Defense Mobilization. The function of Rabi's committee was to advise Eisenhower on guided missile development and other important military scientific projects—a position which enabled him to influence, if not dictate, U.S. missile and satellite policy.

With these facts at hand, let us now consider the mysterious hold-back of our vital guided missile program in the race to get an earth satellite off the ground, particularly in the light of recent testimony by some of our high ranking military men in the field. This testimony, given on Dec. 13th before a Senate subcommittee headed by Senator Lyndon Johnson, indicates conclusively that the U.S. Army could have launched an earth satellite long before the Russians launched theirs—but was not allowed to! Testimony given before the committee by General James M. Gavin, chief of Army Research and Development, shows that the Army Ballistic Missile Agency begged for permission time and again to launch a U.S. earth satellite—only to be turned down repeatedly by the mysterious group dictating our missile policy.

Here is a partial digest of the testimony given by General Gavin before Senator Johnson's subcommittee:

Senator Johnson: "Do you think it is tragic that we were not in space first?

General Gavin: "Yes indeed."

Senator Johnson: "Do you think we could have been?"

General Gavin: "Yes, we could have been."

Senator Johnson: "And the reason we were not—money?"

General Gavin: "No. Wrong decision."

The general then went on to relate that as early as August of 1955, the Army had . . . "sent a paper to the Department of Defense . . . pointing out the serious danger that could be done to U.S. prestige if we did not launch first," and asking permission to proceed with a satellite launching. It was ignored.

Again, in May of 1956, according to General Gavin's testimony, the Army requested permission to put up a satellite, using the Jupiter or Redstone missile. Permission denied.

Two months later Secretary of the Army Brucker himself urgently asked that the Army be allowed to prepare a launching, estimating that it could be accomplished by midsummer of 1957.

"Again," testified General Gavin, "it was turned down. By spring and summer," he continued, "I became quite worried about it, because I was following the Soviet program very carefully and they appeared to be approaching the real possibility of launching. In our opinion the Soviets were getting close to launching; national prestige was going to suffer a serious blow" . . .

The Army begged for permission to launch an earth satellite with its Jupiter rocket (above) as early as 1955. Permission was denied, however, until AFTER the Russians had put their "Sputnik" into orbit. Once permission was given, though, it was only a matter of weeks until the Army had launched America's first satellite (the "Explorer").

There is more of the same testimony, but what the General is saying is that as early as May of 1955 the Army had missiles (i.e. the Redstone and Jupiter) which were capable, with a little preparation, of lifting an earth satellite But, as General Gavin made clear, they were never able to obtain permission to launch despite repeated requests—even after it was apparent the Russians were getting ready to beat us to the gun!

If any doubt exists that this was a deliberate hold-back, then take the further testimony of Major General Medaris, Commander of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency, before the same subcommittee:

Committee Counsel: "General, is it correct that, at one point when express orders were sent down to the Army not to launch a satellite, that auditors from the Budget Bureau checked on your agency to make certain that the orders were obeyed."

General Medaris

General Medaris: "I don't remember what bureau they came from, but I know there were some people who came down to take a look and to make sure I was not budging."

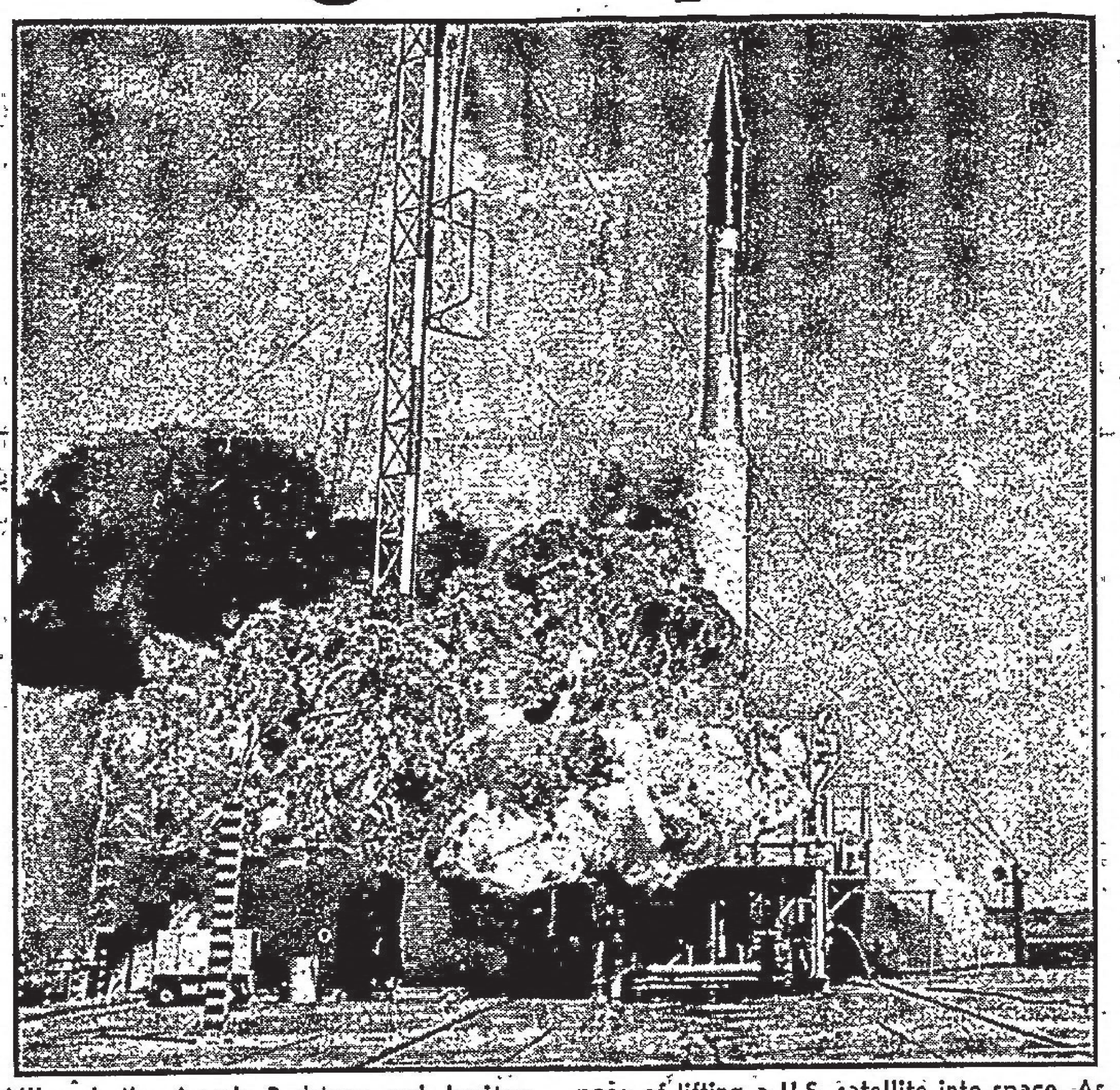
That, from the mouth of the general in command of the Army's missile project, explains why the Russians launched their "Sputnik" ahead of ours—the reason being that our U.S. Army was ORDERED not to prepare a launching, and special agents were assigned to see that those orders were obeyed!

Since then, of course, General Gavin has resigned from the Army and General Medaris's statement that he was denied permission to launch an earth satellite ahead of the Russians has become widely publicized. As a result of that publicity the Army finally received permission to launch, and on January 31st its Jupiter C rocket lifted America's first satellite into outer space . . .



Although the Army's Redstone and Jupiter missiles were capable of launching a satellite as early as 1955, Eisenhower's Jewish science advisors (Rabi et al) issued specific orders forbidding such a launching. Instead, vast sums of precious missile funds were poured into the building of the "non-military" Vanguard rocket, constructed for the sole purpose of lifting a U.S. satellite into space. As a consequence, Russia beat us into outer space with its "Sputnik." And when the "non-military" Vanguard did attempt to raise its grapefruit sized satellite, it promptly blew up (see cut above). Only then was the Army given permission to launch its Jupiter rocket (below)—which it promptly did.

MYSTERY REMAINS

But this still leaves wide open the question of WHY permission to launch was withheld in the first place. Here we come to the crux of the situation, for despite propaganda to the contrary, it is obvious that such a decision was not made by military men, and it is also apparent that inter-service rivalry was not the cause.

Instead, the whole trouble can be traced to a high level civilian decision (announced by Eisenhower in July of 1955) to launch our first satellite with a "non-military" rocket. The reason given for this weird decision was that we might offend the Russians and world opinion if we launched our satellite with a military rocket! On that thin pretext our military rocket program was deliberately held back (and in part curtailed) so that a specially constructed "non-military" missile called the "Vanguard" could be built to be the first U.S. satellite. It was that "non-military" Vanguard rocket which exploded at Cape Canaveral last December while trying to raise a midget 6 pound satellite.

Thus, while the Army was placed under strict orders NOT to launch its rockets, vast sums of precious rocket money were poured into the construction of the non-military "Vanguard" rocket which to date has not even gotten off the ground with a peanut sized satellite.

This, of course, is the same kind of treason which held back the H-bomb program for four critical years while the Russians overtook us in that field. Then it was a strange concern for "humanity" which impelled our Jewish scientists to block the building of the H-bomb. Now it is a concern for world opinion which gives them an excuse for holding back our missile program while the Russians forge ahead . . .

THE REWARD

You would think that the group responsible for this treasonable sabotage of our missile program would at least be removed from their positions of influence now that the facts are in the open. Far from it. On the contrary, Mr. Eisenhower has promoted them.

Up until Nov. 29th of 1957 Isadore Rabi and his 12-man "Science Advisory Committee" had, as previously noted, operated through the "Office of Defense Mobilization." Now the group has been increased in number from 12 to 17 members—and moved into the White House, where it will have even a tighter grip on missile policy. Only now it will be known as the "President's Science Advisory Committee" . . .

That, if you please, is Rabi's reward for ripping the guts out of our guided missile program even while the Russians were pushing ahead in the race to perfect the Intercontinental Ballistic Missile. But then, what more can you expect of an alien-born Jew who, along with Oppenheimer, Einstein, Lilienthal and other high placed Jews worked so assiduously to ham-string production of the H-bomb back in 1945-49? What more, if you please, can you expect of a former room-mate of the convicted atom spy, Klaus Fuchs?

PRESBYTERIANS

rian Church has not only printed his book, but is currently selling it in Presbyterian book stores. Furthermore, brochures promoting Hromadka's Communist drivel have been sent out from Presbyterian headquarters in Philadelphia to all Presbyterian ministers, as well as to thousands of important laymen. The book is also being pushed through commercial channels by book salesmen in the employ of church supported Presbyterian book stores . . .

If you are wondering just why the Presbyterian Church should engage in the publishing and promotion of a book by a renegade Communist propagandist of Hromadka's calibre, you will have to direct your questions to Dr. Carson Blake and others of the Presbyterian hierarchy responsible for the outrage. The purpose of this article is not to explain the queer political aberrations of the Presbyterian leadership, but to document the fact that Presbyterian church funds were used to publish and exploit the book—with the full knowledge that its author was, and is, a Communist collaborator.

If any doubt exists as to the accuracy of the latter statement, PRESBYTERIAN LIFE dispels it with its own book review of Hromadka's "Theology Between Yesterday and Tomorrow" which, as previously mentioned, appeared in its Dec. 28, 1957 issue.

That review, which ran for two full pages (with pictures) was prefaced by a half-page introduction by the editors of PRESBYTERIAN LIFE. In the very first sentence of that introduction the editors admit that Hromadka is . . . "generally regarded as the foremost Protestant defender of Communism" . . . Further on in the introduction there appears this enlightening paragraph:

"In 1947 Hromadka returned to his homeland," states PRESBYTERIAN LIFE. "Soon after his return, Czechoslovakia fell under Communist rule. He chose to remain with his people. More and more since then, Hromadka has appeared to the Western world as an apologist for Communism, and many have questioned how he can consistently maintain his profession as a Christian. Late in 1956 he forfeited the confidence of many of his friends in the World Council of Churches when he took that body to task for expressing sympathy for the Hungarian patriots who revolted against Communist rule."

Obviously, however, Hromadka did not "forfeit the confidence" of the Presbyterian leadership, despite its hypocritical protestations to the contrary, for the Presbyterian hierarchy clearly approves of Hromadka and his work or it would not have printed his book.

This is an important point, for in its review PRESBYTERIAN LIFE seeks to give the impression that it disapproves the book. The reviewer starts out by describing Hromadka as a . . . "sensitive Christian" who is assertedly suffering . . . "agonizing repentance for the sins of the Christian West"—but then proceeds to slap his wrist throughout the remainder of the article. It is, in other words, a rather critical review, but written up in such a way as to make the reader want to go out and buy a copy of the book.

This, of course, is one of the oldest propaganda dodges known, and one frequently employed by left-wing book reviewers in the commercial press to publicize Communist party line books. It works on the theory that an unfavorable review is infinitely better than none at all . . .

The hypocrisy of the Presbyterian leadership is all the more repulsive in this instance, however, for they are pretending to knock a book which they printed, which they are selling and which they are assiduously promoting with every resource at their disposal.

The long and the short of it is that they are trying, by subtle propaganda and shameless hypocrisy, to mislead the rank and file of the Presbyterian membership. This is evident throughout, for the above mentioned review is written so cleverly that it is doubtful if one Presbyterian layman out of twenty even realizes the book was published with Presbyterian church funds. Even fewer would conclude, after reading the review, that the official Presbyterian publishing house has printed a Communist propaganda book and is trying to palm it off on its membership, its clergy and the public as a work of legitimate theology.

All of which would suggest that it is high time rank and file Presbyterians took steps to see that the Presbyterian leadership spends more time and energy on the propagation of the Christian religion—and less on social action agitation and political propaganda. If they don't, public opinion will force them to do it . . .

NOTE: This is not the first time the social actionists of the Presbyterian hierarchy have been caught using church funds to further their own peculiar political and sociological objectives. In the January, 1957 issue of the AMERICAN NATIONALIST, for example, we revealed the astounding fact that $10,000 in Presbyterian church funds had been allocated by Eugene Carson Blake to "underwrite" certain legal obligations of the infamous National Association for the Advancement of Colored people (NAACP) in South Carolina last year. Not only that, but PRESBYTERIAN LIFE actually carried an appeal for donations in its January 5, (57) issue to defray the NAACP's legal costs, which it claimed were incurred fighting Southern "bigotry."

In the light of all this, it is not particularly surprising to find the same group using Presbyterian money to publish a Communist book. But it does make one wonder just how long Presbyterian laymen are going to stand by and allow a group of professional church politicians to transform their church press into a transmission belt for Communist propaganda, their seminaries into training schools for social gospel agitators and their churches into hotbeds of racial integration.

Press Report

FRANKFORT, GERMANY—For the first time in history an American Army officer is being court martialed for refusing to shake hands with a Negro. He is 1st Lt. William B. Morton, and he is awaiting trial on charges which could result in a dishonorable discharge and five years in prison for refusing to shake hands with a Negro assigned to command his unit. Although U.S. servicemen have been forced to eat, sleep, bathe and work alongside Negroes in the armed forces since 1948, this is the first known instance where white officers have been required to shake hands with them. Presumably the next step will be a requirement that white servicemen's wives show a similar "respect" for Negro officers and soldiers . . .

NEW YORK—Beginning April 1st, New York City will begin enforcement of the nation's first "anti-bias housing bill"—a measure which makes it a crime for any property owner with three or more dwellings to refuse to rent to Negroes. This means that virtually every apartment house and multiple dwelling unit in the city will be subject to a massive invasion by Negroes and Puerto Ricans, with landlords subject to fine and imprisonment for refusing to rent to them.

NEW YORK—The much heralded plan of the New York City school system to integrate every white school in the city, even though it meant transferring Negro pupils by bus into white districts in many cases, was quietly dropped after a grand jury investigation uncovered the shocking crime wave sweeping the city's already integrated schools. As a result of the investigations, uniformed policemen have already been assigned to many schools to patrol corridors and recreation areas. Incidentally, it was interesting to note that most northern newspapers, in reporting the crime pictures in New York's schools, carefully concealed the fact that Negroes and Puerto Ricans were involved . . .

NEW YORK—The NATIONAL JEWISH POST reveals (Jan. 24th) that some 350 Jews in Israel have applied for passports to return to Communist Poland. The report claimed that most of those wishing to return included families with either a non-Jewish husband or wife, who are ostracized by their Jewish neighbors. (NOTE: Israel does not permit Jews to marry non-Jews, but in some cases persons married to Jews are allowed to enter the country.)

RICHMOND, VA.—Virginia has become the second state (after Texas) to pass legislation automatically closing down any school where Federal troops are employed to enforce racial integration, as they were in Little Rock. Incidentally, it is still costing the U.S. government $100,000 monthly to keep those nine Negroes in Little Rock's Central High school.

NEW YORK—John Gates (real name: Israel Regenstreif), long-time editor of the DAILY WORKER, and one of the 11 original Communist leaders to be sentenced under the Smith Act, last month resigned from the Communist party in a factional dispute. He was described as the highest ranking "American" ever to break with the C.P.
